

THE OBJECTION IS WITHDRAWN

Senator Beveridge Says That He Will Not Stand In The Way Of House Bill.

DROPS THE AMENDMENT OF COST

Isle Of Pines Receives Attention In The Senate This Morning By Senator Dick Of Ohio.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, D. C., June 29.—Senator Beveridge, who introduced the original meat inspection amendment to the agricultural bill, has withdrawn his objections to the house substitute and this is taken as an indication that the senate will today instruct its conferees to accept the house provision. Senator Beveridge has been in favor of compelling the packers to pay the cost of the inspection and requiring them to place the date of the inspection on the cans of meat, but states that in the interest of practical legislation to purify the meat products it should not stand in the way because the government is required to pay the cost of inspection. The joint resolution providing for a temporary government for the Isle of Pines was today introduced in the senate by Senator Dick of Ohio. At three o'clock p. m. the senate agreed to a conference on report of railroad rate bill, which passes the measure. It will go into effect in sixty days. The senate dropped the conference report on the pure food bill and it now goes to the house. The public building appropriation bill was sent to a conference today by the house and the senate adopted the conference reports on the bill creating the bureau of naturalization and immigration and the Lake Erie canal bill. This passes both measures. In the course of debate on the conference report on the railroad rate bill today Senators Bailey and Tillman engaged in a very sharp controversy over the latter's denunciation of lawyers. Today the senators indicated the opinion that this was demagoguery. Senator Tillman, while contending he respected the attorneys of good standing he said he had utter contempt for the "shysters" and for men who pack the political conventions. There was intense feeling for a few moments, but it passed away.

JUNE WEDDING IN THE TOBACCO CITY

Miss Henrietta Keegan and T. M. Madden Married—Society and Personal News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, Wis., June 28.—On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the St. Joseph's church, the Rev. J. E. Harlan read the marriage ceremony of T. M. Madden and Henrietta Keegan. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Keegan and the groom by his nephew, Joseph Lynch of Chicago. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the brides mother, Mrs. Martin Keegan in Porter. Mr. and Mrs. Madden will make Edgerton their home.

Afternoon Party.
The home of Mrs. R. C. Brown was the scene of a very pleasant afternoon party on Thursday, when Mrs. Brown, Miss Grace Brown and Mrs. Fred McKinney entertained more than a hundred guests at Euchre and flinch. The house was beautifully decorated with bunting, flags and roses. The honors in Euchre were won by Mrs. R. W. Warner and those of flinch by Mrs. R. J. Maltress. While the consolations were awarded to Gertrude Spencer and Mrs. Jno. Hurd, a delightful three course dinner was served by Misses Grace and Bernice Brown, Josephine Bates, Josephine Tallard. Following menu:
Midget Pickles
Creamed Potatoes
Tomatoes with Pepper Sauce
Fruit Salad
Lemon Cream
Veal Loaf
Pepper Sauce

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES DURING WARM DAYS

And Nights Are Keeping Tempered Sweet, on the Surface at Least.
Invitations have been issued for a reception which is to be given at St. Mary's hall on July 3 from 2 to 9 p. m. in honor of Rev. W. A. Goebel's silver jubilee as a priest. Rev. Goebel has, toiled in the Master's vineyard twenty-five years. His friends in Janesville and vicinity are legion and there will undoubtedly be a large attendance at the festivities arranged in his honor.
Tin Shower Last Evening.
Mr. and Mrs. R. H. August Mander, who reside on South Main street, were the recipients of a tin shower given by the members of the National Fraternal League in their honor at the hall on South Main street last evening. The gifts embraced everything from a tin spoon to a wash boiler and a delightful time was enjoyed by all of the participants in the merry-making.

Entertained at Lawn Party.
Mrs. C. R. Wright entertained thirty-five ladies yesterday at a lawn party given at her home on Milton avenue. Six-handed euchre was the diversion of the afternoon and the first prize was won by Mrs. George Powell. After the card playing was concluded a dainty luncheon was served.
Barn Dance at Barlass Farm.
On the J. D. Barlass place near Emerald Grove last evening a barn dance was in progress from nine o'clock until midnight. Guests from a radius of nearly ten miles were in attendance and a number from Janesville returned home during the early morning hours. Refreshments were served at small tables on the lawn. Kneff & Hatch's orchestra provided the music.
At Golf Club House.
Following the supper at the golf links last evening an informal hop, with Roy Carter's orchestra to furnish the inspiration, was inaugurated. The large number of visitors and the perfect night combined to make the affair unusually enjoyable.

STATE NOTES
Freddie Anderson, 8 years old, living in Menasha, Mich., fell from a boat while rowing and drowned. The boy's left side was paralyzed from previous disease and he could not swim.
The report sent out from Plainfield that there were seventeen cases of smallpox in Wautoma and that the village of Wautoma was in quarantine is denied. One mild case has been kept under strict quarantine by the authorities.
Reinhold Weidner, a Racine trunk-maker, has requested the police to locate his wife, her mother, and two children, who disappeared from their west side home last Tuesday. Mr. Weidner states that so far as his family relations were concerned there was no reason for his wife to go away.

ST. PAUL RAILROAD TO HAVE ELECTRIC TURNABLE HERE

Five Thousand Dollars Will Be Actually Cost—Gang of Workmen and Portion of Material Have Already Arrived.
To properly handle all locomotives that are cared for here and to be in harmony with the new round-house, shop buildings and other recent improvements, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company will install a new five-thousand-dollar electric turn table in Janesville. The apparatus will be seventy-five feet long and large enough to turn the biggest engine on the system. One man will be able to operate it and he will not have to exert himself in performing the duty. Of course there is danger of the mechanism becoming disordered or the current of electricity cut off, so the table will be fitted with "handles." These will, however, be used only in an emergency. The table now being used is in good condition and is considered one of the best on the line. It will be consigned to the scrap heap but be sent to Mineral Point, the table there being old and disabled much of the time. The work of building the table here is to begin at once. A gang of workmen has arrived and much of the material, which reached here yesterday and the day before is being unloaded.

FORTY-FIVE ATE OX AT HORICON TODAY

Delegation of Janesville Odd Fellows Attend Barbecue and Gold Jubilee Celebration.
Forty-five members of the different Odd Fellow lodges of the city went to Horicon this morning to attend one of the biggest celebrations ever held under the auspices of that order in Wisconsin. The occasion is the fiftieth anniversary of the Horicon lodge and of the membership of two residents of the town, Messrs. Rich and Roper. This noon a big barbecue dinner was served to all visitors and this afternoon a program apropos of the event was given. Tonight there is to be a ball, but it is not likely that the local merry-makers will remain for that. Mr. Rich is the central figure today. He is one of the oldest and most enthusiastic members of the society and being financially capable has gone to a heavy personal expense to make the affair a success. His arrangements were so elaborate that the city of Horicon abandoned its plans for the fourth of July and cooperated with him in making today one memorable in the history of the town. The delegation from here left over the North-Western this morning and continued from Minnesota Junction to their destination by special train over the St. Paul road. The party will return at 5:30 this evening.

Malignant Insect.
The much maligned white ant of South Africa is credited by a resident of Swaziland with doing more good than harm if care is taken of buildings. It has a wonderful fertilizing effect on the soil, and maize and other crops grow twice as large near ant hills as elsewhere.

BRAKEMAN CAUGHT FOOT IN FROG AND RUN DOWN BY CAR

Frank Williamson of North MacGregor, Well Known Here and Formerly A Boarder in City Killed At Rockford.
Frank Williamson, a brakeman on the C. M. & St. P. railway who formerly ran into this city on the Davis Junction passenger train and at that time boarded with Mrs. Anna V. Schlauer at 112 Madison street died this morning at five o'clock in Rockford hospital, as the result of an accident in the yards last night. He was in a freight crew and while watching a few cars caught one foot in a frog. Before he could release himself a moving car was upon him and he was felled to death under the wheels. Both lower limbs were badly mangled and the flesh was torn from one arm and one side. Mr. Williamson was about thirty years of age, a well thought of young man and had many friends in Janesville. His home was in North MacGregor, Iowa and he leaves parents and a brother. His mother and brother visited him in Rockford just yesterday.

OFFICIALLY HONOR BIRTHDAY OF KING

In London And At Home Stations Day Observed Though Edward Was Born November 9.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] London, June 29.—In London and at all home stations the King's birthday was officially observed today by the display of flags and the firing of the usual salutes. Rain interfered with the carnival celebrations. In all the British possessions beyond seas the day will be celebrated on the actual anniversary of his Majesty's birth, November 9.

AMERICAN NAVY TO TRY OIL FOR FUEL

United States Steamship Wyoming Fitted With Burners For Trial Trips.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., June 29.—The United States Steamship Wyoming will be fitted with burners for the purpose of experiments with oil as fuel. It is hoped a thorough test will be made which will settle the question as to the practicability of oil as a fuel for ships of the navy and the advisability of making changes in the ships now under construction. One of the principal things to be determined is the disposition of the weight to be saved by using oil, instead of coal.

HOUSER TRIAL PROMISES TO BE MOST INTERESTING

When Case Is Called In Madison Tuesday Next, Important Testimony Will Be Heard.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., June 29.—The trial of Secretary of State Walter L. Houser, on the charge of attempting to bribe Insurance Commissioner Zeno M. Host, comes up in the Dane county municipal court Monday. Commissioner Host alleges that Secretary Houser solicited Host to render a decision on the surplus distribution case in favor of the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York, in exchange for a contribution of $2,000 to the La Follette republican state campaign fund. It is expected that the trial will not last long. The state will offer the testimony of the commissioner of insurance substantially as he gave it before the legislative investigating committee in Milwaukee and at the preliminary examination here, at which Secretary Houser was held for trial. The star witness, "Bob" Luscombe, who is said to have been the distributing agent of the Equitable in this alleged deal, will not be present, and his interesting story will not be told. The defense will offer the flat denial of the defendant that he made the alleged offer, and will also attempt to show that Commissioner Host had a political grudge against Secretary Houser, which was the animus of the charge of attempted bribery. It is expected that there will be sharp clashes of attorneys over the admission of testimony and that the arguments to the jury will be lengthy. Friends of Secretary of State Houser are confident that he will be acquitted, and declare that he gains freedom he will not retire from public here, at which Secretary Houser his candidacy for a third term.

OHIO'S AGGRESSIVE ATTY GENERAL FOR GOVERNOR

Wade H. Ellis, Famed For Standard Oil Investigations And Other Trust Fights, "Mentioned."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Columbus, O., June 29.—In the light of recent developments politicians of foresight would not be surprised if a movement having for its object the placing of Wade H. Ellis, the present attorney-general of Ohio, in the governor's chair would be formally launched when the time is ripe. Mr. Ellis is easily the most conspicuous official of the present state administration. While he declines to discuss the matter it is generally believed that he would not be averse to becoming a reform candidate for governor.

The success of his gubernatorial aspirations will depend in a large measure on the ultimate outcome of the fight he is now waging against the so-called bridge-trust and other alleged unwholesome combinations doing business in Ohio. So far his efforts have been attended with gratifying success and in his fight he has displayed aggressive qualities that have brought him into wide prominence. Mr. Ellis is a native of Kentucky, born in 1866, and early in his career he was a democrat. Ten years ago he engaged in newspaper work in Cincinnati. He left the editor's chair to become assistant city attorney of Cincinnati and from that position made a long jump to the office of attorney-general of Ohio. Though he was elected the first time by the Hanna combination he had not been long in office when he began a campaign to regulate the combinations of capital doing business in Ohio.

Twelve years ago the Valentine Stewart anti-trust law was enacted by the Ohio legislature. It was, as the name indicates, an act against unlawful combinations, and it followed to a certain extent, the lines of the Sherman anti-trust act. But the law remained a dead letter until, about a year ago when it was resurrected by the prosecuting attorney of Delaware county in order to prosecute a combine of coal dealers. The prosecution was successful in the lower court, but the circuit court, on appeal, held that the criminal section of the law was unconstitutional. The case then came to the supreme court. It was here that Attorney-General Ellis stepped into the breach. He asked consent to appear for the state and he obtained a reversal of the circuit court's ruling that the law was unconstitutional. He not only thus obtained the first conviction under the criminal section of the law, but he established its constitutionality and found that he had a law of great value to the state. The combine of Departing somewhat from this line of work he also went to the legislature urging that the county officers be put on salaries and that the fee system be abolished and also asking that officers in custody of public funds should deposit them in approved banks and that the interest on those deposits shall go into the public treasuries. Both of these laws were enacted.

LIBRARIANS HOLDING ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Twenty-Eighth Meeting Opens at Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Narragansett Pier, R. I., June 29.—From many sections of the United States and Canada members of the American Library association have gathered here for their 28th annual conference. Today was devoted to the reception of the visitors and the meeting of committees at which the final details of the convention program were arranged. The gathering promises to be one of the largest and most profitable ever held under the auspices of the association. All phases of library work will be discussed and there will be addresses by the heads of many of the largest libraries of America. Among those who will take active part in the proceedings are M. Lunnis, public librarian of Los Angeles, H. E. Legler of Wisconsin, John Penleton Kennedy, state librarian of Virginia, W. T. Porter of Cincinnati, W. H. Brett of Cleveland, Henry

R. Tedder of London, and Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress.

SPECIAL TERM TO HEAR TRUST CASES

United States Supreme Court Opens For Cases Against Tobacco Trust and on Sugar Rebates.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, June 29.—A special term of the criminal branch of the United States circuit court opened today to try the sugar rebating cases and the indictments returned in the tobacco trust contempt proceedings. The defendants in the sugar rebating cases include the New York Central railroad, the American Sugar Refining company and their agents. The tobacco cases involve the J. S. Young company of Baltimore, the MacAnis & Forbes company, and Karl Jungbluth and Howard E. Young. They are charged with having conspired to violate the Sherman anti-trust law.
William Davis of Harvard university will teach history in Beloit college next year. He is well known as a writer of historical novels.

PRESIDENT DICTATED WORK

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF PRESENT
CONGRESS SUMMARIZED.

Issues Which Developed After Campaign Occupied Time of Both Houses.

(By Wm. Wolff Smith.)

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Special Correspondence.—One of the things that strike the observers of the doings of the administration and of congress is the fact that but little attention has been paid to the great issues that were before the people during the campaign, but instead, all the might of the administration and nearly all the attention of the congress has been devoted to matters that have come up since the campaign. Leaving out the usual appropriation bills most of the time of both Houses has been devoted to the railway rate and the joint "statehood" questions. At no time in the history of the country has a President been more in evidence in shaping legislation than during the present session of congress. From the very beginning Mr. Roosevelt has endeavored to dominate and to force congress to accept his views on almost every question. In the main the House has been subservient to his wishes, but the senate has been disposed to think and act for itself. By the strenuousness shown in his message it would be thought that the very prosperity of the country, if not the salvation of republican government depended upon speedy and very radical legislation in regard to railway rates. Nothing but the very extreme of radicalism would suit him. It mattered not whether the proposed legislation was in form to pass the constitutional test; his vehemence in his messages and his dictum to members of congress was greater than the constitution. He forced his views on congress in season and out of season; the House yielded and promptly passed a bill that is now confessed by all to have been extremely faulty in many respects, and had it become a law in its original shape would have worked incalculable injury to the railroad interests without accomplishing the desired end—protection of the shipper. It was one of those remarkable cases of hasty and inconsiderate legislation that seizes occasionally on the most deliberative bodies. The senate deliberated, and then the tide turned and the senate was just as warmly commended as it has been denounced. The President was the last to give in and yield to the demand that the railroads should have a chance to try in court the issue of any rate ordered by the commission.

Joint statehood was not an issue, and as it after all is a matter that only concerns in any great measure the people of the Territories, it would seem as if an agreement ought to have been readily reached. It was evident from the very beginning that the people of the four territories were opposed to joining any of them together, but after a long struggle, the citizens of Oklahoma and Indian Territory, urged by their strong desire to throw off their political servitude to congress, reluctantly consented to uniting the two Territories, but in the case was radically differed there Arizona and New Mexico. There the people were strongly opposed to people were strongly opposed to the Union. Just why the House and the President should so strenuously insist that the two should be joined remains a profound mystery. At the very best it was a matter that did not in any constitutional way interest a President, but it is generally conceded that the extreme opposition of Speaker Cannon to the proposition to give the people in the Territories the right to express by ballot their desires, was mainly due to the wishes of the President.

There was a loud demand before and during the campaign of 1904 that the anti-trust law should be strengthened materially. It was contended by many of the republicans that the law as it stood was strong enough to meet all demands, if it was rigidly enforced, but others took a different view of the matter. The first session is about to end and the trust problem has not been touched. Instead of it, there was suddenly sprung, with many dramatic features, an attack on the packing industries. There is an old saying that there are two sides to every question, but that rule has not held in matters before congress, so viewed by the administration, so the whole country has been stirred up and the excitement has spread to Europe. The session and plunged into the vortex only in this matter that had been on the rate question. The House turned and became the deliberative part of congress and after some days finally whipped the senate legislation into something like reasonable shape. Just as this was done it began to leak out that the great commission has but little real foundation after all.

The Istimian Canal was another question was expected to deal with. For a while it looked as if the agitation would develop a scandal before which all others would pale. For months the confirmation of the President's nominations for commissioners has been hung up in the senate, and has been made of large reductions in the salaries paid to all those connected with the canal work. At first Mr. Shonts importuned congress to fix the type of the canal, saying it was imperatively necessary that it should be determined at once. When the senate took up the matter and after mature deliberation the committee declared in favor of a sea-level canal, Mr. Shonts suddenly came to life again and informed the senate that he had already purchased a very large amount of material for a lock canal, and it would all be wasted if any other kind of waterway was constructed. It seems he was only shamming when he was urging congress to settle the matter, and that he had already determined the question for himself.

For years it has been known that the methods of business pursued in the various departments here were antiquated and very cumbersome, resulting in the necessity of employing a very large force of clerks and even with that abundant supply it usually required many months and frequently a number of years to get a settlement with the government on any kind of a claim. So serious had become the complaints against this situation that early last fall the President appointed a commission to consider the whole subject and suggest such reforms as would not only expedite business but insure its being completed in a satisfactory manner. This commission entered upon its work with a great flourish of trumpets and all the world was given to understand that in a very short time all the old abuses would be wiped out, and the bars be put up against the introduction of any new ones. Of course all this brought praise to the President, but alas, the commission very early got lost by the wayside, and it was almost entirely forgotten until it asked for an appropriation of $25,000 to pay for its traveling expenses, that it might go junketing around over the country after ideas.

The political outlook throughout the country is just now troubling the politicians of the capital. The election in Oregon did not turn out so as to give any definite lead as to what might be expected in other states. It was announced that a majority for the republican ticket would be taken by the President as an endorsement of all he had done, while a different result would be looked upon as a vote of lack of confidence. All this was said before the election, but since the result was a divided vote, the democrats electing the governor and the republicans the other officers, no more has been said about an endorsement. The republicans are very much troubled over the situation in Iowa and Pennsylvania, and the democrats are concerned about matters in Tennessee. The conservative republican leaders, frankly admit that in Pennsylvania the chances are in favor of the democrats. Capturing from eight to twelve congressional districts and at least two in Iowa. These same conservative republicans placed much of the blame for this situation on the President. They say that the revolt against the machine in Pennsylvania was so pronounced that wise political leadership would have counseled yielding to the demands of the people; that Senator Penrose would have been deposed had the President not interfered in his behalf, thus giving his sanction to the machine. In Iowa the President is blamed for the condition that now exists. It is charged there that an effort has been made to run the political affairs of the state from Washington, and that long-range control never was and never will be satisfactory. One distinguished Iowa said: "The republicans of my state have a firm conviction that they are capable of running their own affairs; that not all their official brains are centered in Washington." In Tennessee the democrats are anything but harmonious and the republicans have grown hopeful. It may only be a rainbow but it has very glittering colors and many of the republican leaders here profess to believe there is the "pot of gold" at the end and that the G. O. P. will find the gold. The democrats confess they are somewhat worried but think matters will be harmoniously settled long before election.

Railway mail clerks have tired of members of their national organization being burned to death or subjected to the possibility of death by fire from the lighting arrangements of the mail cars. They have therefore secured the introduction by Representative Jenkins of Wisconsin, chairman of the house committee on judiciary, of a resolution directing the postmaster general to notify the railroad companies carrying the mails that within a year from the approval of the resolution they will be required to furnish electrically lighted cars for the transportation of the mails. As the mail cars are carried at the head of the train, between the heavy engines, the heavier day coaches and the still heavier Pullmans, wherever there is an accident or a collision the mail cars have to bear the brunt. There is always danger from escaping steam and the coal fires of the engines; when a collision occurs at night, this danger is increased tenfold by the presence of lamps or gas jets. Numerous fires in wrecks have thus been started.

While the mail clerks are principally interested because their personal safety is involved, the postoffice department is deeply concerned because of the quantities of mail injured or totally destroyed in such wrecks from fires started by the gas jets or lamps in the mail cars. Electricity would undoubtedly be safer for the clerks and for the mail, and consequently it is expected the resolution will be supported by the department as well as by the mail clerks' organization. The railroads will doubtless oppose it because of the expense involved and the concern which now has the monopoly of furnishing gas equipment for such cars will also probably try to defeat the resolution. No action is expected before next session, but the matter will be brought before the annual convention of the railway mail clerks this summer and it is hoped that the resolution will be adopted at the next session of congress.

During the period from October 1, 1905, to June 1, 1906, the American Federation of Labor issued 235 charters as follows: three international unions; four state bodies; 43 city central bodies; 64 federal labor unions and 101 local trades unions. There are now associated with the American Federation of Labor, 118 international unions, 36 state branches, 674 city central bodies, 730 local trades and federal unions, a total of 26,320 local trade unions directly and indirectly affiliated with the organization. The receipts of the federation during the period from October to June of this year amounted to $149,784, which together with a balance on hand on November 1, 1905, of $114,265 made a total of $264,049. The expenses during this period were $169,158, leaving a balance on June 1, 1906, of $94,891. An assessment of $49,664 in favor of the National Typographical union was levied by the American Federation of which all but $1,949 has been paid. Senator Morgan of Alabama could have given no better demonstration of the strength of his physical and mental faculties on his 52nd birthday than to entertain the senate to a two-hour speech on the canal question. In his speech he showed a keen grasp of the subject and exhibited those strong traits of a forceful debater that have characterized his long service in the senate. Next to Senator Pettus of Alabama, his aged colleague, who will be 85 years old on July 6, having been born in 1821, Mr. Morgan is the oldest and one of the most active members of the senate. He is a tireless speaker, having discussed many questions on the floor of the senate in recent years for hours at a time without showing any signs of physical exhaustion. Senator Morgan has been a conscientious student of congressional matters ever since entering the senate in 1877 and whenever he addresses that body he shows that keen grasp of the question that is astounding to his younger colleagues. During recent years he has devoted most of his time and thought to the canal question. Senator Morgan's term of service will expire on March 4 next and several candidates have entered the field for his seat but it is safe to say that if death spares him, the people of Alabama will return him to the senate as long as he lives.

CATHOLICS CAN EAT MEAT ON A PERMIT

Today is a Feast Day in the Catholic Church by Special Dispensation.

Catholics in Janesville and all over the world will be allowed to eat meat today by special dispensation of the Pope. Official notice to this effect for the Milwaukee archdiocese has been received by Mgr. Joseph Rainer, vicar general of the archdiocese, from the apostolic delegate. The granting of this privilege, which is one of rare occurrence, is in honor of the feast of St. Peter and St. Paul which falls today. In many countries, this day is still observed as a feast day of obligation, on which every Catholic is required to attend a mass. This has been abrogated in this country, however, owing to industrial demands. On next Sunday Peter's pence will be collected in all the Catholic churches, this special annual collection being for the Pope. It has been several years since Catholics were granted dispensation to eat meat on Friday, said a well-known Catholic. "The last time was three or four years ago when the Fourth of July came on Friday. Pope Leo issued the special order, but it did not reach Milwaukee until Saturday morning, too late for any one to benefit by it."

JANESVILLE MAN INVENTS USEFUL FARM IMPLEMENT.

HAS PROVEN SUCCESSFUL

Machine Has Been Given Severe Tests—Does the Work of Thirty Men.

Almarian Hollenbeck of 216 South Academy street has invented and nearly perfected a farm implement that will go over a field of corn and as it moves pick the ears from the stalk, husk and throw them into a wagon. Tests have proven it to be a decided success and the machine promises to be one of the foremost labor-saving devices of the field. Mr. Hollenbeck has been about nine years in getting it into its present state of perfection. The model he now has is the fifth which he has made and the first to be run by an engine.

Many Failures

Several corn-husking machines have been placed on the market, but as yet none have been a success and the Janesville inventor has an open market. The McCormick Manufacturing Company has manufactured some 200 huskers and have recently bought another inventor's patent. All these were drawn by horses, but on account of the lack of power have all proven failures. Mr. Hollenbeck's machine is run and worked entirely by the power of a gasoline engine. A new engine for the machine which is now being built has just been purchased of the Rambler people. It has eighteen-horse-power and is so arranged that the locomotive and operative power is separate.

Description of Implement

The machine is built upon four wheels and runs between two rows of corn. Two jaws on each side catch the stalks of corn and as the machine moves on the ears are caught between two perpendicular rollers, which break them from the stalk. The corn is then husked and the ear elevated into a wagon which accompanies the machine.

With other machines the trouble has been lack of power sufficient to do the amount of work necessary, but it is claimed that work can be done by this implement even when the ground is wet.

Displaces Thirty Men

Mr. Hollenbeck has great confidence in the machine and should it be a success it will do the work now accomplished by thirty men or harvest and husk about 20 acres a day. He has applied for the patents on various parts not already protected. As soon as the new model has been completed it will be sent to Oklahoma to be tested and then returned to this city, where several acres of corn have been purchased to try the merits of the machine. It is being built at Mr. Hollenbeck's shop at the corner of West-ern and Center avenues and will be ready for shipment in about thirty days. If nothing unforeseen happens, several other business men of the city are interested in the success of the machine.

SEVERAL LOCAL BARS WILL CHANGE HANDS

After Monday Evening Next When the Council Grants the Licenses.

Next Monday evening the city council will grant the $500 saloon licenses for the year and more than the usual number of changes in proprietorship and management are in progress during the interim. Martin Hossain is to have charge of the Ross Hotel saloon on Milwaukee street. Paul Wickert has already taken charge of the Elmer Maine saloon. Fonda Burke is to have the management of the McShane place on West Milwaukee street. Charles Lagerman will open the bar on North Main street where Heimsstreet's drugstore was formerly located. Joseph Croak will move from Milwaukee street to the old Fathens stand on North Main. The Wickert stand next to the First National bank has been rented by outside parties. Outsiders have also leased Croak's place on West Milwaukee street. There are also several other possible changes in prospect.

W. A. SCOTT WAS NAMED MEMBER OF COMMITTEE

Of State Association of Paid Firemen Which Will Endeavor to Secure Creation of Pension Fund.

William A. Scott of Janesville was named as one of the members of the legislative committee of the State Association of Paid Firemen just before the adjournment of the convention in Milwaukee this week. Other members are: T. J. King, J. Hennessey, and L. A. Van Toor of Milwaukee; Charles Bernard of Madison; Otto Wolf of Racine, and J. H. Kratz of Manitowish. The committee is to make an effort to promote a movement which will result in the creation of a firemen's pension and life insurance fund. This is made expedient owing to the fact that the regular companies refuse to insure the life of a fireman.

Sacred Tooth in India.

In a recent lecture in New York an American traveler told of a sacred tooth in India which for 2,400 years had been an object of worship, and for which $250,000 had been refused. "In hundreds of other shrines in India," he said, "the teeth of human beings are worshiped by Hindus, who above all value good teeth as the reward of good ancestry and of eternal vigilance in the care of the body."

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, June 29, 1866.—We Stand Corrected.

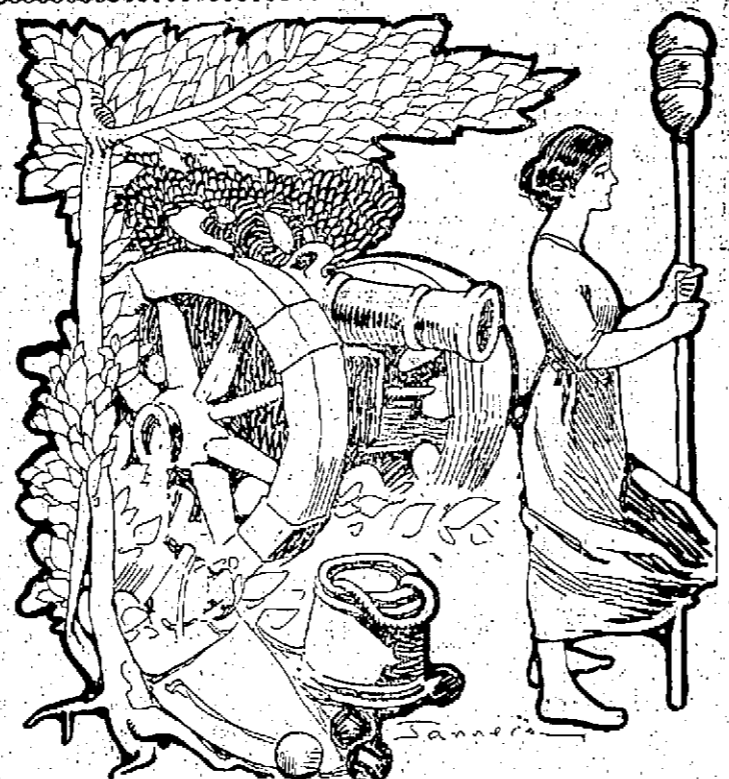

Yesterday we stated that there was to be no celebration here on the 4th. Mr. Reynolds of the Rochester shoe store informs us that we were a little fast, as he proposes to send up in the evening of that day, several fine balloons which he is now making. On several occasions this gentleman has afforded the public no little gratification by these aeronaut displays. He will have a crowd to see his balloon exhibition.

Streets Full.—It has been a long time since our streets were so full unless it was upon a holiday. The immediate attraction is Yankee Robinson's Show, which we apprehend has been made an excuse by the Matt. H. Carpenter delivers the oration at Green Bay on the approaching 4th of July.

We inadvertently did injustice to the Appleton Crescent the other day in speaking of it as one of the papers that opposed the war. Its Editor performed good service in the army and we hasten to make the correction because so few of his political way of thinking went to the front that all who did so ought to have the full credit for it. With that class of politicians, going to Gaucha was the rule and enlisting the exception.

ROOSEVELT OUT OF RACE

President Will Not Be a Candidate for Re-election During Next Campaign.

Colorado Springs, Col., June 29.—W. A. Conant of this city, who was a delegate from New York to the first national Republican convention more than 50 years ago, recently wrote a letter to President Roosevelt asking if he intended being a candidate for the presidency at the expiration of his present term. Mr. Conant has just received the following reply:

"My Dear Mr. Conant: The president thanks you for your letter of the 17th instant and cordially appreciates your kind expressions concerning himself. He says, however, that you will have to vote for some other Republican candidate next time. Conveying to you the president's best wishes, I am, sincerely yours, William Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president."

Canal in Eight Years.

New York, June 29.—That the Panama canal will be completed in eight years from the present time, is the belief of Chairman Shonts of the canal commission. Mr. Shonts made this prophecy just before sailing for the isthmus.

San Francisco Saloons.

San Francisco, June 29.—Twelve hundred and twenty-two applications have been made to the board of police commissioners for permission to sell liquor under the increased license of $600 a year.

Went to the Bottom.

Up among the hills of Sligo, Ireland, lies a small and mysterious lake much famed for its haunted region. One day a noted English professor, exploring the hills, was asked by his native guide if he would not like to see the lake, "for it's no bottom at all, sorr."

"How do you know that, Pat?" asked the professor.

"Well, sorr, I'll tell ye," agreed the other. "Me own cousin was showin' the pond to a gentleman one day, sorr, and he looked incredulous like—just as you do—and me cousin couldn't stand it for him, to doubt his word, sorr, and so he said, 'I'll prove the truth of me words,' he said, and off with his clothes and into the water he jumped."

The professor's face wore an amused and quizzical expression.

"Yes, sorr, in he jumped," continued the guide, "and didn't come up again at all, at all."

"But," objected the professor, "I don't see that he proved the point by drowning himself."

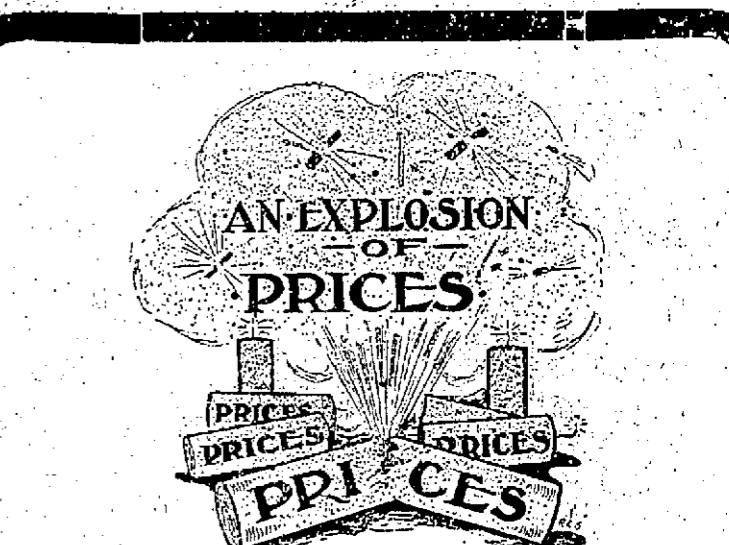

"Is it drowned? Divil a bit, drowned at all he was. Sure, didn't a cable come from him next day in China askin' for his clothes to be sent on."

"Many old camels carry the skins of the young ones to the market,"—Talmud. And many an older merchant may perform that function for his younger, "cock-sure" competitor—if the older man has "learned things" about advertising as his years have passed.

King Haakon is showing himself to be purely democratic.

Toledo has proven to the world that even the ice trust can be frozen out.

Creditors of Zion City would like a receiver while there is something left to receive.

Pittsburg can certainly keep up its record for turning out millionaires that keep in print.

Mr. Bryan may find that New York is not the same city he visited during his ninety-six campaign.

The Russian army appears to be siding with the Douma against the "Little Father" these warm hot days.

A certain phase of New York life not used in the sightseers' guide book is being disclosed by the White murder.

Packtown certainly deserves credit for being able to repudiate the charges brought against it without the use of whitewash.

Every once in a while something comes up that vindicates the man who was born poor and remained poor. Thaw's act for instance.

The Beloit Daily News and the Beloit Free Press still hang on to the postoffice possibility and boom Cooper with a vigor deserving a better cause.

Congressman Lorimer of Chicago appears to be having his hands as full of trouble as is Congressman Cooper of the first Wisconsin district.

It is not a stalwart fight against Cooper. The La Follette men can not surely have forgotten their efforts to defeat him with Victor Richardson four years ago. Who saved him then? Not his present friends.

It appears that Thaw may have been justified in killing White. That is what dispatches say but the old Bible teaching, "An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," may have to be fulfilled in spite of the Thaw millions that will rush to his defense.

Cooper promised Beloit a postoffice. Now they seek to have Spooner get it for them. There is a representation of Cooper's interests in the wants of his constituents. If they secure the necessary appropriation they will have to seek it from the man Cooper tried to defeat for office and belittled as much as he could—John C. Spooner.

THAT PANAMA TRIP.

There is nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent President Roosevelt from making a trip to the Isthmus, of Panama. So far as that document is concerned, there is nothing to prevent him from making a tour to Europe or around the world if he chose to do so. But there is an unwritten law which is almost as binding as that of the Constitution itself, and the unwritten law of the land is that the President should never leave the territory of the country. No President has ever violated that law. No President has ever stepped over the boundary line which separates the United States from Canada, although there he would always be within reach of the telegraph and able to return at a moment's notice.

President Roosevelt has, however, decided to break the precedent, time honored though it is, that holds the chief executive of the United States within the boundary lines of his own country. It is true that in a measure the President in visiting Panama would be visiting his own country, for the canal zone, as it is called, has been ceded to the United States, but in going to Panama he would for a number of days be not only outside of the territorial lines of the country, but beyond reach of telegraph or cable and wholly unable to perform any of the duties of his office.

At Panama what work awaits him which is of such importance as to call for a complete reversal of this unwritten law? Is it necessary that President Roosevelt should see with his own eyes what is going on at the Isthmus. Secretary Taft has been to Panama and may with propriety go there again. Can he not trust his own secretary of war? Men whom he has himself appointed and who enjoy his confidence, are in charge of the work of constructing the canal. May he not leave to them that work and trust them to make a faithful report of progress? In what way can he so advance the enterprise at Panama by his personal presence on the Isthmus as to warrant him to leaving the country for so long a time?

It is not part of the business of the President to be investigating things with his own eyes. It is not necessary that the President should personally inspect Chicago packing houses in order to learn the conditions that exist there. It is not necessary that he should assume the role of detective or inspector in order to ascertain how the railroads and the banks are conducting their affairs. It is not necessary for him to investigate Panama. It is for him to perform the greater office of determining policies on reports made to him by his subordinates. If the President desires to take a trip of this kind he ought at least to ask the consent of Congress.

Who will be President of the United States during the days when Mr. Roosevelt will be upon the high sea? Will it be Mr. Roosevelt or Vice-President Fairbanks? Much might happen in the course of a week which would call for the immediate decision of a chief executive. A war, a panic, a great strike, involving rioting and bloodshed, a terrible calamity like that of San Francisco—all these things, though improbable, are not impossible, and it is the business of the President at all times to be within call so that he might attend to these supreme emergencies.

PRESS COMMENT.

Judgment Passed Daily.
Chicago News: This country never has to go for more than a day at a time without knowing what Tillman thinks about it.

Liked in Milwaukee.
Evening Wisconsin: Gov. Davidson continues to make a good impression. He has a large contingent of sincere admirers in Milwaukee.

Chances Look Good.
El Paso Herald: Schwab will try to get a senatorship in Nevada. He has more money than Addicks and Nevada has fewer people than Delaware.

Bad Combination of Colors.
Washington Post: When a man who feels blue goes out and fills up on red liquor the result will naturally be that dark brown taste. Any mixer of colors will tell you that.

Are the Neighbors Right?
Exchange: As a rule, the neighbors do not condemn the man who smokes half as quickly as they do the woman who won't let her husband smoke.

Chance to Retrieve.
Milwaukee Sentinel: So there is a "general revival of popular interest in croquet." Now here is a chance for our state university athletics to pick up a bit.

In Sanctified Sheboygan.
Sheboygan Journal: A Sheboygan man got nine months at Waupun yesterday because he told a lie at Manitowish. If he had told it in Sheboygan he probably would have been hanged.

Uncle Allen.
Chicago Tribune: "There's something good in every man," averred Uncle Allen Sparks. "although I'll admit that you meet a man occasionally who has nothing good about him but his appetite."

Like As Not.
Rockford Register Gazette: When you see a man shelling peas on the back doorstep it doesn't necessarily mean that he loves his wife and wants to help her. He may be very fond of peas.

Speaking a Word For the Boys.
Portland Oregonian: There are worse things on the streets than boys playing ball. There are automobiles that give grown folks palpitation of the heart and street cars that maim infants. Healthy lads are not to be balled down these fine evenings.

Will All Get Into Elevators.
Exchange: The millions of bushels of Kansas wheat which are being ruined by reason of a shortage of harvest hands will find their way into the elevator in due time and be marketed at handsome figures.

Vindictive.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Congress will do nothing with the clean money bill this session. If we are compelled to eat unclean meats we will at least have the satisfaction of knowing that we can pay for them with dirty money.

Used to Imposition.
Exchange: The discovery that "Canadian" cheese comes from Indiana, "Elgin" butter from Minnesota and "New Jersey" chickens from Iowa will not disturb a public grown accustomed to getting its Havana cigars from Pennsylvania.

Why They Are For Bryan.
Green Bay Gazette: It is being claimed for him that Bryan is now quite conservative in his views on national affairs. But a large majority of those who are today endorsing him do not want conservatism. They want radicalism and that is the principal reason they are for Bryan.

A Foolish Undertaking.
Fond du Lac Bulletin: A company of gentlemen in Paris are betting that Wellman and Hersey will not make a really serious start for the North Pole, in that air vessel. They will show their good sense if they do not start, and their willingness to continue to inhabit the earth as well. If they go and the buzzards don't eat them up, somebody will have to be at the expense of a funeral. Of all of the fool-hardy undertakings of the past 260 years that is the foolhardiest.

As to Marrying the Cook.
Oshkosh Northwestern: The Madison Journal complains that on account of the demand for cooks at the summer resorts it is almost impossible to get help of this kind in that city just now, adding, as an afterthought, that the "only sure way is to marry one." Yes, but how is a fellow going to change if he don't like her particular style of cooking?

More Railroads For Wisconsin.
Exchange: It is predicted by those who are in a position to predict with skill, backed by good judgment, that not less than 2,000 miles of railroad will be built in Wisconsin during the next twelve years. Among the lines will be many short ones, connecting numerous smaller cities and villages with the main thoroughfares.

MISS JULIA MINICK AND F. H. STARK MARRIED IN FOREST CITY YESTERDAY.

Miss Julia Minick and F. H. Stark went to Rockford yesterday and after securing a marriage license from the clerk of Winnebago county were united in wedlock by Justice J. C. Manlove. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Minick of 355 Cornelia street.

CHEER FOR TRIED
STANDARD BEARER

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS STAND BY W. J. BRYAN.

NAME STIRS UP APPLAUSE

Only Two Occasions Arise That Give Opportunity to Mention Nebraskan, But Tumult Succeeds Each Announcement.

Milwaukee, June 29.—William Jennings Bryan was strongly endorsed as the standard bearer of the national wing of the Democratic party in the campaign of 1908 by the Democratic state convention, which adjourned sine die late Thursday afternoon.

There were only two occasions in which Mr. Bryan's name was mentioned during the day, and that was when the resolutions were read as a whole, and again when the planks were adopted separately.

Cheers for Bryan.
In both instances his name was cheered repeatedly, and the words, "Bryan, Bryan, Bryan, three cheers for Bryan," brought forth a tumult of applause which continued some time before the chairman could restore order.

The convention held two sessions and spent several hours in deliberating over a platform of principles which was prepared by the committee on resolutions after an all night session.

Little Change in Platform.
While several of the planks embraced in the document as presented to the convention were sought to be changed by a minority of the delegates, with two exceptions the original draft stands at the close of the convention as it came from the committee.

One of these exceptions is the adding of a few extra words to the tariff plank, favoring the placing free all commodities supplied by any trust or monopoly.

The other exception is the adding of an extra plank denouncing "the contributions of vast sums of money for corrupt uses in national and state affairs."

Municipal Ownership.

The plank which came in for the most criticism and considerable debate was that bearing upon municipal ownership. National Committeeman Timothy E. Ryan fought hard against the addition of the plank, but when the deciding vote was called for the opponents were apparently very few.

The platform adopted will be submitted as a recommendation to the candidates who receive nominations for the state ticket at the primary election in the fall.

The short speeches which it was expected would be made by former United States Senator William F. Vilas, National Committeeman Timothy E. Ryan and others were not made.

Before the convention adjourned a motion was put and carried that the Democratic state chairman be empowered to appoint a committee of three to examine the books of the secretary of state's office to ascertain the cause for expending large sums of money.

Demand Campaign Publicity.
The following extra plank was adopted:

"We denounce the contribution of any sums of money for corrupt uses in national as well as in state affairs whether derived from interested corporations or by robbery of the funds from widows and orphans by the management of life insurance or other corporations or companies of like character. We favor the enactment of a law requiring every committee of a political party or organization to make public the amount received and expended by it."

Stockholders' Meeting.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Merchants & Mechanics' Savings bank will be held at the bank Tuesday, July 10, 1906, at 4:30 p. m., for the election of directors and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

GOLF TOURNAMENT WAS SUCCESSFUL

LADIES' CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH WAS HELD TODAY.

EXCELLENT SCORES MADE

Hewitt Made New Record For Eighteen Holes by A 37 And 40.

Round Thursday.

With the completion of the ladies' championship series which is being played at the links today despite rain and adverse conditions, the nineteenth and six tournament of the Wisconsin Golf association is over. It has been one of the most successful.

HAMILTON VOSE OF MILWAUKEE WATCHING THE PLAY

ful and largest attended of any meet ever held by the association.

Ladies' Championship. Despite the rain the first nine holes of the ladies' state championship was played this morning, ten ladies participating. Owing to a doubt as to the eligibility of Mrs. Deering of Chicago and Mrs. Page of the same city entering this contest, a special prize was offered by the association for visiting lady golfers. Mrs. Page and Mrs. Deering are competing for this while the rest of the entries for the state championship, with the exception of Mrs. Riley of Milwaukee, are all from the local club. Miss Marcia Jackman and Miss Mabel Jackman dropped out owing to the rain when partially over the first nine holes, but the other eight ladies finished. The contest is a championship medal play, the total scores being counted.

First Round. The first round ended shortly before noon, the following being the scores turned in:

Mrs. Arthur Harris, 57.
Miss Elizabeth Shicker, 64.
Mrs. Frank Blodgett, 66.
Miss Catherine Pfaff, 65.
Miss Belle MacLean, 70.

Holds Record For Links.
The golf played by G. W. Hewitt of Oshkosh, winner of the state championship contest, at the Sunnyside links yesterday, was nothing less than remarkable in the opinion of every golfer who followed him on his four triumphal tours of the nine hole course. Hamilton Vose, the defeated finalist, is credited with the declaration that the Oshkosh man's fight up to the championship was the equal of any golf ever played by an American champion. He made the first nine holes in 42; the second nine holes in bogey, 39; the third in 40; and the fourth in 37. His achievement in making the last eighteen holes gives him the record for the local links which he will undoubtedly hold against all comers, amateur or professional, for some time to come. His scores for the final nine holes were as follows: 3, 4, 3, 3, 4, 4, 4, 6. It required just 158 strokes for him to make the 36 holes, distant by direct line of over 6 and 7-10 miles. The nine hole course is 2,965 yards, over 1 and 6-10 miles.

Madison Wants Meet.
Late this afternoon the Maple Bluff club of Madison, through Mr. Jacobs, telegraphed Secretary Baker that it would welcome the 1907 tournament.

Mrs. Harris Wins.
At four o'clock two scores were not in in the ladies' state championship. The others stood: Mrs. Harris, 55; Miss Pfaff, 61; Mrs. Page, 53; Miss MacLean, 65; Miss Schickler, 67; Mrs. Blodgett, 71.

So-called "wandering-pains" may come from its early stages; or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs.

If you have mysterious pains; if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinckham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Dear Mrs. Pinckham:—

"I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly that I was admitted to thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation."

"Soon after I read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed the tumor is entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It was also brought my periods back and I am now enjoying an entirely well."

"An Unusual Departure."
General Charles H. Grosvenor appeared in the house of representatives the other day clad in a suit of white duck, a suit of white hair and a suit of white whiskers, the last two being his usual appendages, but the first named being a most unusual departure from his usual statusman black, says the New York World's Washington correspondent. His colleagues gave him a fine round of applause when he burst into view.
"Looks like the Ancient Mariner," commented Uncle Joe Cannon, who is poetical at times.
"Yes," said Seneca E. Payne, who is always prosaic, "or a white wings."

Health Seekers.
They're packing up and packing down. Flannel and linen, suit and gown. In order to get out of town And give their skins a coat of brown, In search of health.

And everywhere from Peppay bay And Cooger's cove to Skakaway The wary natives waiting lay To trap the pilgrims grave and gay In search of health.

The rural chefs are baking pie And doughnuts of an auburn dye; The mint is sprouting freshly high To julienne the extra dry In search of health.

Each dance pavilion, fresh and white, Is being waxed and polished bright For those who wish to stay polite And dance like idiots all night In search of health.

So in kind nature's realm, alack, They'll dump the poor old money sack Till in the autumn, tired and black The seekers will come limping back In search of health.
—Wallace Irwin in New York Globe.
